Although 6 per cent. first mortgage on 30 to 50 per cent. of market valuations would seem to be the best kind of investment, such small buyers do not find a supply of money in any way adequate to their demands. F. C., Mrs. G. D. Y., W. D. and P. R. S. all write that they are seeking such loans in order to buy homes and sak how to find them. If brokers and leinding institutions familiar with the properties cannot provide the capital, the next best way might be to advertise ine order to reach private investors who would appreciate such high-class securities.
